ANNIE WHITE is an Illustrator, with 30 years industry experience, who has drawn all her life. After studying Art and Design, she worked in Advertising before moving full time into Illustration. Annie's work has appeared on cards, posters, jigsaw puzzles, magazines, and murals and she has illustrated over 60 books for children. She communicates ideas clearly and simply using expression, movement and a touch of whimsy.

Annie's most recent picture books include:

Isla Lu, Where Are You?
The Sorcerer's Apprentice
Mum and Me
Mbobo Tree
Mummies are Amazing

Annie's clients include advertising agencies and publishers including Scholastic, New Frontier, Hachette, Era Publications, Five Mile Press, Oxford University Press, Child Magazine and the National Trust.

CLEMENTINE'S WALK:

Clementine is intent on finding someone (anyone!) to take her for a walk, but everyone is just too busy. When it is finally time to go for a walk, Clementine is nowhere to be found.
